Inside Your Congress

Truman vs. Congress

—by—

SAMUEL B. PETTENGILL
"The Gentleman from Indiana"

What Mr. Truman grieves about is that Congress has not enacted the C. I. O. program. This is a great boost for Congress. It is an especial compliment to the real Democrats on the hill who have had to break with their erring leader. I refer to such sturdy souls as Doughton of North Carolina and Manasco of Alabama.

The men whom Mr. Truman takes to task will all be on the C. I. O.-P. A. C. purge list in the Congressional campaign this year. Make no mistake on that point. This is a struggle for power between an alien-minded Left and an all-American Right. Old and respected party banners still screen the struggle from the clear vision of many people. But they will see it before this year is out, I think, and not as through a glass darkly.

This is the U. S. edition of the Russian revolution of 1917. That it should be fought under battle flags stolen from the old Democratic party and by snipers shooting from behind the tomb of Thomas Jefferson is one of the great ironies which history sometimes records.

Eight months ago Mr. Truman enjoyed a popularity greater than his predecessor ever possessed. Millions who never voted the Democratic ticket were ready to back him to the hilt in the gigantic job he faced. They had said for years, "God help the man who follows - - -."

But that offer of support was based on a natural assumption. The assumption was that a man with the good brown earth of the Mississippi Valley on his shoes was bound to think American, however men might differ along historic party lines. Mr. Truman has indeed made several recommendations which seemed to justify that appraisal. But whether he is surrounded by Left-wing ink-slingers and is unaware of their true designs, or whether with eyes open he has decided to make a political deal, it is plain that he has now allied himself with the anti-Democratic wing of the Democratic party.

"To thine own self (Mr. Truman) be true, and it needs must follow as the night the day, thou canst not then be false to any man." We were praying for a President of all of us to "bind up the wounds of war" and not for a factional leader of the class struggle. In the brave days of old it was written on the Twelve Tablets of Rome: "The safety of the Republic is the highest law." That was expected to be the new President's guide.

Mr. Truman now states: "This year (!) we lay the foundation of our economic structure which will have to serve for generations." Passing by the resemblance of these words to Hitler's, "Our system will last a thousand years," we must look closely at this new economic structure which the President is urging the people to put the heat on Congress to adopt.

Last September, Philip Murray of the C. I. O. listed ten pending bills as "legislative musts." A few days later in his long speech of September 6th, Mr. Truman gave his blessing to eight of these ten. He now blames Congress for not adopting them.

One was "full employment," an idea that originated in the Constitution of Communist Russia: "Citizens of the U. S. S. R. have the right to receive guaranteed work - - -." Only a totally socialistic state could give such a guarantee and then only with a total loss of freedom and a W. P. A. standard of living.

Another was to increase the pay for being idle and the period for being idle, and that at a time when industry is clamoring for workers. Another was to put the best medical system in the world

Debate Subject "Free Trade vs. High Tariff"

ANDALUSIA, Jan. 16—A debate on the subject of "Free Trade vs. High Tariff" was participated in last evening by Russell Struble and Albert Brown at the weekly dinner meeting of Bensalem Rotary Club. Members gathered in King Hall then participated in a round-table discussion.

The Rotary Club will conduct the house-to-house canvass in Bensalem Township for the National Clothing Drive. Trucks will go throughout the township on Sunday, January 27th. Individuals who do not expect to be at home on that day may place their bundles on their porches on the morning of the 27th; or garments may be taken to the Bensalem Twp. high school between now and that date.

"Nancy" Brace Observes 10th Natal Anniversary

"Nancy" Brace, daughter of Mrs. Gertrude Brace, North Radcliffe street, celebrated her tenth birthday anniversary on Saturday when she entertained a number of friends at her home. Game prizes were won by Carol Moyer, Mary Vandegrift, Pauline Saranzak and Margaret Packert. Refreshments were served, decorations being pink and green. Favors were little "men" made of gum drops. Nancy received many gifts.

BUILDING PEACE ON SAND

With a regrettable emphasis on half-truths and misstatements, and with Russia ominously aloof, the first meeting of the United Nations General Assembly is under way in London.

Boasts that the way is thereby paved for lasting peace and international justice need to be taken with more than a grain of salt.

Every key figure at London is a man who is politically active in some endeavor in his own land, and for most of them their personal interests are best served by pretending that the UNO is successful, regardless of what may be the truth.

The most dangerous phase of the keynote speeches was the constant stress on statements which simply are not so.

The temporary chairman, Dr. Zuleta of Columbia, set the pace. At the outset of his address opening the meeting, he spoke as follows of the San Francisco Charter:

"It has been unreservedly accepted by all in confident belief that the machinery set up under its provisions will prove adequate to the achievement of its historic purposes."

The Charter has not been "unreservedly accepted by all." On the contrary, its so-called veto clause has been under fire from most small nations, and demands for a change of this provision have come from some of the most important statesmen in the world.

Going further, he said: "The five great powers . . . will bring to bear . . . goodwill, divested of every shred of intrigue or trickery."

Intrigue and trickery already have been charged repeatedly against several of the Big Five; Great Britain, France and Russia have been accused of playing selfish games against the UNO program.

Specifically, uneasiness over some of the Russian policies—in the Balkans, in Finland, in Poland and in

THREE ARE HEARD IN DAMAGE SUIT TO GET $15,000

3 WITNESSES HEARD

Judge Calvin S. Boyer Will Preside at Trial Opening Monday at Doylestown

DOYLESTOWN, Jan. 16—Concluding the first day in the case of Warren A. Custer, of Newtown township, who is seeking damages totalling $15,000 from Charles B. Krause, Jr., of Langhorne Manor, three witnesses offered testimony in civil court here on Monday.

The plaintiff, Warren A. Custer, and the defendant, Charles B. Krause, Jr., figured in an automobile accident in Langhorne Manor Sept. 26, 1944. The plaintiff hopes to recover the sum of $1125 which he alleges represents the damages done to his car. He also underwent treatment in the Abington Hospital for injuries received, a fracture of the foot and injuries to his leg.

Members of the jury include Philip K. Conrad, Frenchtown, RD; Samuel Gindin, Morrisville; Walter Cressman, Springtown; Harriet G. Luff, Newtown RD 2; Felix S. Gorrell, New Hope, RD; Letitia C. Ambler, Yardley, RD 1; Flora Freed, Telford; Charles Beer, Bristol, RD 1; Edna M. Mountford, Morrisville; William J. Hawkins, Southampton; William S. Glatz, Yardley, and Norman M. Blake, Doylestown, RD.

Witnesses include the plaintiff, who was recalled numerous times; Dr. Simmons Patterson, Eleanor Watchtendorf and Adrienne Custer.

Testimony in the case ceased at 3.45 on Monday afternoon.

Resuming the trial this morning, a garageman, Franklin Austin, offered testimony concerning the amount of damages done to the plaintiff's car.

Trooper Michael Boiwka, a Penna. State Policeman, now of Bethlehem, but then stationed at South Langhorne, was the final witness called yesterday. Trooper Baiwka, who investigated the crash, said the plaintiff, Custer, was lying on a seat taken from the car when he arrived at the scene of the accident about 20 minutes after it had happened.

Both sides closed at 11.10.

Civil court resumed at 10 o'clock this morning.

SUBMIT PLANS FOR A PROPOSED AUDITORIUM

44 JOIN ORGANIZATION

Forty-four former service-folk were accepted as members of Robert W. Bracken Post, No. 382, American Legion at the regular meeting in Bracken Post home last evening. One of the group is Miss Marie Swank, a former sergeant in the Women's Army Corps.

Tentative plans were submitted for a proposed auditorium and recreation hall which if erected would extend to the rear of the post lot, Cedar street. The plans were displayed by the architect.

Hospitalization of veterans was discussed, and veterans were advised to take advantage of services of the Veterans' Administration Office in the Municipal Building.

Refreshments of baked beans, frankfurters, rolls and pickles were served.

CARDS TONIGHT

A card party will be conducted this evening at eight in F. P. A. Hall, Market and Radcliffe streets. The Shepherds Delight Lodge, No. 1 is conducting the affair. Among the prizes offered are: set of dishes (service for four), basket of potatoes, butter, coffee, oven-ware, bag of flour, etc. Mrs. William Harding is chairman.

The State Police Say . . .

How much does your operator's license mean to you? Could you place an actual dollar and cents value on it? If you need your operator's license in carrying on your occupation or to drive to your place of employment, it has a definite monetary value to you. Under the law your operating privileges may be withdrawn for any violation of the motor laws whatever, so why risk losing your privilege to drive when it pays such big dividends to drive safely.

$5 Weekly Increase Given Bell Office Employees

The Bell Telephone Co. of Pennsylvania announces the signing of a contract between the company and the Pennsylvania Telephone Guild providing for a $5 a week increase for all business office employees in the state totaling about 1300. This increase represents a post-war adjustment in wages. The contract was signed after discussions lasting several months.

Under terms of the new contract, the starting rate for inexperienced employees in Bristol will be $25.00 for a five-day week. The basic wage rate progresses by periodic increases to a maximum rate of $42 a week for service representatives.

The new contract with the business office employees follows the granting of $5 increases to approximately 11,000 operators, announced last week.

FARMERS CLUB PLANS 75TH ANNIVERSARY

Solebury Group to Have A Fitting Celebration During February

SOLDIER IS SPEAKER

SOLEBURY, Jan. 16—Preparations for a fitting observance of the 75th anniversary of Solebury Farmers' Club will be made by a committee appointed at a meeting of the club entertained in Trinity Hall, here, by Mr. and Mrs. John Bower and Mrs. Anna Shupe.

This committee consists of Clyde M. Davis, Mrs. Carroll B. Price, Mrs. Herbert Eberhardt, Mrs. Walter Rex, Elmer L. Mohn, Charles J. Koller, Mrs. Francis C. Fitting and Mrs. George H. Ely. The celebration will take place at a meeting next month, but the exact time has not as yet been arranged by the committee.

Approximately 85 persons attended the meeting, and the retiring president, Clyde M. Davis, installed the newly-elected officers: President, Charles J. Koller; vice-president, Elmer L. Mohn; secretary, Mrs. Francis C. Fitting, and treasurer, Welding Slack. Joseph Sandford and Frederick B. Sanson were appointed to serve on the auditing committee.

Presenting a report for the dairy committee, Frank L. Magill said the scarcity of butter is due to the fact that cream is selling for 90 cents a quart, and processors, he said, use a quart of cream to make a pound of butter. Mr. Magill explained there is a plan whereby more subsidy is paid for milk during the fall and winter months to induce a greater production of milk at this time.

The report for the poultry committee was given by Henry Hartmann, who said the prices of poultry and eggs are controlled by the O. P. A., which, he said, has overlooked the fact that the prices of poultry and eggs have been reduced, but that the price of feed remains at $75 per ton.

Clyde M. Davis introduced as the guest speaker Sgt. Edward Matthews, New Hope, who before serving in the Army four years and ten months, was a member of the National Guard. He told of his army experiences.

BABY GIRL ARRIVES

A daughter was born this morning in Harriman Hospital to Mr. and Mrs. Edward McIlvaine, Wood street.

LATEST NEWS BULLETINS

Pickets Patrol Stockyards

Chicago—Hundreds of pickets patroled the mile square area around Chicago's union stockyards today as 335,000 CIO and AFL packinghouse workers walked out on strike in 139 packing plants over the nation.

The strike began promptly despite a last-minute plea by Secretary of Labor Schwellenbach for a postponement and an invitation for union officials to meet with him in Washington tomorrow.

The Secretary's telegram authorized by President Truman, arrived after Edgar L. Warren, chief of the U. S. Conciliation Service, and other government mediators departed for Washington following a breakdown in conferences in which efforts were made to avert the strike.

Union leaders and government representatives indicated the walkout might have been postponed had the telegram arrived sooner.

Earl W. Jimerson and Patrick E. Gorman, president and secretary-treasurer, respectively, of the AFL meat cutters union, advise the CIO union that they were willing to abide by the President's wishes.

Lewis J. Clark, president of the CIO United Packinghouse Workers, said that, while it was too late to call off the strike, he would make a statement today on the President's proposals.

UNO Continues Debates

London—Storm clouds banked up on the UNO's horizon today as the third day of the general assembly debate on world affairs began.

At least two issues threatened to participate trouble.

One was Iran's decision to toss its dangerous dispute with Russia into the laps of the UNO security council, thus confronting that infant body with its first critical test of a nation appealing for protection of its rights under the UNO charter.

The second issue concerns trusteeship.

Britain plans to propose that all mandates be transferred to UNO trusteeships. However, Britain wants most of the territories presently under mandate to be administered by the nations now holding the mandates. These nations would be responsible to the UNO.

1st Lt. Bennet Is Now On Terminal Leave

Lt. Bennet tenlisted in September, 1932, and served three years with the Infantry in the Hawaiian Islands. He re-enlisted, serving with the Signal Corps at Ft. Monmouth, N. J., in 1935. Until the outbreak of the war he participated in all major maneuvers in the eastern United States. In December, 1941, he assisted in organizing the signal company for the Amphibious Forces of the Atlantic Fleet at Quantico, Va.

At officers candidate school he was commissioned a second lieutenant in October, 1942. He served as Cryptographic Security Officer with the 26th Anti-Submarine Wing with headquarters in Miami, Fla. In September, 1943, he served as Cryptographic Security Officer in the 1st Bombardment Division in England. He attended R. A. F. school at Oxford.

In May, 1944, he was transferred to a signal Construction Battalion, landing in France in June. While in the E. T. O., he was in France, Luxembourg, Belgium, Germany and Holland with the Advance Section Communications Bone.

Lt. Bennett volunteered for the Infantry and attended a school at Fountainbleau until a week after V-E day. He was reassigned to the Signal Corps and redeployed to the Pacific, leaving Marseilles in July and arriving in Luzon, P. I. He arrived in Croydon on December 7th, and is on terminal leave until March 8th. He intends to re-enlist. Bennett has the good conduct ribbon, and wears five battle stars on his ETO ribbon.

"DINNER-DANCE DATE" AMONG BALL PRIZES

Residents Urged To Attend Victory Ball to Welcome Service-Folks

TO CHOOSE MONARCHS

Through the counsellor Mrs. John Leslie Kilcoyne, officers and members of Bristol Business Girls Club express a desire for all residents of Bristol and vicinity to feel that they have a part in the Victory Ball, planned for Friday night. The affair, a welcome to ex-service men and ex-service women is to be held in Bristol high school auditorium.

The public is urged to back this gala affair to the utmost.

Miss Cecelia Gallagher, club president, reports that fine support is being manifest by business people, fraternal groups and other residents.

The chairman of the ball committees, Miss Eunice McIlvaine, announces that services of Charles Rathke have been secured as master of ceremonies for the evening. Many prizes have been received for the young woman and young man fortunate enough to be chosen queen and king of the ball. Among the prizes is a "dinner-dance date" at a cabaret the night following the affair. The two will be fittingly crowned following awarding of the prizes, and will then lead the grand march.

Young and old are invited and urged by the club members to join in making this a real "welcome home" to the service-folks.

DR. W. W. REITZ LISTED TO GIVE A LECTURE

"For Years To Come" Is To Be Subject of Soil Conservationist

AT TREVOSE MEETING

TREVOSE, Jan. 16 — Dr. W. W. Reitz, of Upper Darby, will give his lecture "For Years to Come" at the meeting of Trevose Horticultural Society this evening in the community house. The hour for the first meeting in 1946 is eight o'clock.

Dr. Reitz is head of Educational Relations Section, Northeast Region, U. S. Department of Agriculture, Soil Conservation Service.

Mrs. E. C. Phelps and her "Little Show" committee, invite individuals to make entries in some of the following classes: 1, arrangement from a winter garden, with or without fruit accent; 2, arrangement of bare branches, painted or unpainted; 3, a plant (blooming or foliage); 4, arrangement of flowers or plant material not listed. Members are invited to take indoors some sprays of shrubs or roots to force into bloom for the February meeting.

The society has arranged a unique contest, it having invited members to write across the top of a sheet of paper "Trevose Horticultural Society," and below to write common or botanical names of all flowers, plants, shrubs and trees that can be spelled with the letters contained in those three words. A prize is offered the winners.

CHARACTER EDUCATION IS W. C. T. U. SUBJECT

Miss Caroline Black Presents Topic at The Home of Mrs. H. Neher

SEVERAL TAKE PART

The regular meeting of Bristol Women's Christian Temperance Union was held on Monday evening at the home of Mrs. Harry Neher, Radcliffe street, Mrs. Therma Webb, president, called the meeting to order. The devotional period was led by Mrs. Elizabeth West.

The program was presented by Miss Caroline Black, her topic being "Pennsylvania Homes and Character Education." Several papers were given by members, and one on "Cigarettes" by the Rev. George E. Boswell. Miss Black read "Looking Toward the Future," character education from the teachers' point of view; while Mrs. Charles Peet gave one from the parents' point of view, her paper being entitled "The Parents' Pattern."

A playlet "Mrs. Benson Wakes Up" was read by Mrs. Walter James, Barbara Neher and Mrs. Neher, this play showing the need of making every home a place for young people to entertain their friends, and not "just a house in front of the garage."

A short business followed. Refreshments were served.

A NOVEL DOCTRINE

The supreme court of the United States has now held, to quote the dissenting opinion of Justice Reed in the case of Grace Marsh vs. Alabama, that "one may remain on private property against the will of the owner and contrary to the law of the state so long as the only objection to his presence is that he is exercising an asserted right to spread his religious views." That, by the decision of the court, is the law of the land.

For it cannot be said that Justice Reed's refusal to accept this "novel constitutional doctrine" has led him to exaggerate the implications of this finding. The facts are clear. Grace Marsh, a member of Jehovah's Witnesses, was arrested when she insisted on distributing religious tracts in Chickasaw, Alabama, a "company town" owned by the Gulf Shipbuilding Corporation.

She was convicted of violating an Alabama statute making it unlawful for anyone to enter or remain on the premises of another after being warned not to do so. The supreme court set aside the verdict by a vote of five to three.

It is perhaps debatable whether a tract distributor could enter a private house and stay there in an effort to win converts against the wishes of the owner. The majority opinion points out that Chickasaw is like any other town in that its business section is open to all the inhabitants of the area and to those passing through. It holds that the people of Chickasaw, as "free citizens," are as entitled to uncensored information as the residents of any municipality.

Yet the decision declares that when property rights must be balanced against the right to "religious Freedom," as in this case, the latter "occupies a preferred position." So it looks as if Americans who do not want religious zealots invading their rooms will have to keep their doors locked, at least as long as the present membership of the supreme court endures.

LIFE'S VALUE SAGS

Killings, some in cold blood, others as the result of heated arguments, "eternal triangles," carelessness and suicide are so frequent in America today that it is obvious man-fixed value on life has depreciated.

Some will say that these tragedies are the natural wake of war. Human life isn't held in as high regard during war as during peace. A campaign is launched to attain an objective with the full knowledge that many thousands of men will perish.

Some of this attiude toward the life of a human being is carried over when the fighting ceases. What can be done about it? Usually after wars a religious revival tends to return men to prewar trends of thought. Perhaps Christianity offers the best remedy of all to cure the country of deflated value of human life. In every Bible will be found the Commandments, one of which is "Thou shalt not kill."

Turkey—has gone to the point where it has had official recognition, and, in some phases, even official complaint.

The relation of the smaller nations, which under the veto-power given the Big Five must necessarily be subordinate, was stated by the temporary chairman in most misleading form:

"Smaller powers will be able . . . to make their voices heard in . . . free and democratic atmosphere. . . . The organization is to be based on the principle of sovereign equality of all its members."

Such a statement is, as logic goes, all the more obviously false because the speaker had just finished pointing out that these lesser nations had done what the larger had not—surrendered sovereignty for collective security.

All these points, which touch the very heart of the future of UNO, bear strongly on the question of what Russia's plans and attitude are.

Two details of Russian reaction were conspicuous at the opening meeting. One was that she was holding back from full and enthusiastic support.

Russia was represented by her third-string team of foreign experts. Stalin of course was not present. He is the first team in world affairs. Neither were Molotov and his deputy Vyshinsky. The official Russian spokesman was the Ambassador to Washington, Andrei Gromyko. The Russian point of view was presented through the puppets of Stalin, handpicked figures in the Polish and Ukranian governments.

The other important Russian angle was that Stalin lost an effort to name the permanent chairman. The man chosen, Paul-Henri Spaak, of Belgium, is the British selection.

Unpleasant truths were well sugar-coated during the speeches.

Through the sonorous phrases emerged proof that, to the leaders, the entire program is a centering of sufficient force in the hands of five great powers to make it impossible for any combination of lesser powers to resist them.

This is a Russian concept, and has been so completely accepted by the UNO that it is hard to see what fundamental quarrel Russia can have with the present course of events.

Russia's idea of world organization has been expressed officially in the words of Stalin. Here is his version of the manner in which peace is to be preserved:

"To establish a special organization for defense of peace and insurance of security, from among the representatives of the peace-loving nations; to place at the disposal of the steering body of this Organization the maximum quality of armed forces sufficient for the suppression of aggression."

Its objective, if it can be dignified by the name of peace, is peace by oppression and suppression.

Insistence by leading powers, principally Russia, that they be given the power to veto UNO action—or to a degree, even criticism—against their own selfish and greedy acts is the best possible tip-off of the fallacies of this new adventure in power politics.

in the control of politicians. Another is to keep us in a legal state of war far beyond a year after the German collapse. (The Attlee government has voted to keep Britain at war for five years more.)

"And so it goes with measure after measure," as the President says. The only bill he wants, to which organized labor has objected, is the fact-finding bill, and on that bill labor is right. But it has been reported that even that bill was proposed as a favor to labor, on the claim that it would stave off writing a square deal into the Wagner Act. Mr. Truman actually advocates the forcible socialization of profits.

This was a time for greatness for a great country. Gazing on the cruel and stinking mess to which Europeans have been reduced by handing their liberties over to politicians, what will Americans do?

HULMEVILLE

Major and Mrs. Kenneth DuMond and children, of Arlington, Va., were overnight guests on Sunday of Mr. and Mrs. William Perry and Miss Margaret Perry. The DuMonds were en route to Pine Bush, N. Y., they being called there by the sudden death of Major DuMond's father.

A nominating committee was named to list nominees in readiness for balloting at the next meeting, when members of the Ladies' Auxiliary met in William Penn Fire Co. station on Monday evening. The committee is composed of: Mrs. Nicholas Grudza, chairman; Mrs. George Bilger, Mrs. Vincent Mather, Mrs. Mildred Riley. A financial secretary, a new officer for the unit, is to be named. The presiding officer was Miss Margaret Perry. A Valentine party is planned for the February meeting. Decision was made to mail statements to members at the beginning of each year. The auxiliary agreed to share expense of janitor services. Games were enjoyed, with prizes awarded to: Mrs. Howard Potter, Mrs. Grudza, Mrs. Thomas Wheeler, Mrs. Riley, Mrs. Edith Spickler and Mrs. Earl Foster. Refreshments were served to the 20 attending by Mrs. Arthur Martindell and Mrs. Ned Moyer.

Members of the Women's Auxiliary of Grace Episcopal Church are reminded of the meeting to be held at the home of Mrs. George Zarr, Water street, tomorrow evening at 7.30.

Today's Quiet Moment

By Lehman Strauss
Pastor, Calvary Baptist Church

Our Father, we thank Thee for the forgiveness of sins through the shed Blood of our Lord Jesus Christ. Cause us who are Thy people to examine ourselves, and confess our sins to Thee, for we know that Thou wilt withhold Thy blessing from those who refuse to walk uprightly before Thee. We pray in Jesus' Name. Amen.

— Text —

"If we confess our sins, he is faithful and just to forgive us our sins, and to cleanse us from all unrighteousness" (I. John 1:9).

BRISTOL HIGH HAD EASY TIME WITH FALLSINGTON FIVE

Bunnies Win First Game of Lower Bucks County League Season

FINAL SCORE IS 60 TO 16

Visitors Held Scoreless During Third Session of Game

Bristol High had an easy time with the Fallsington team last night on the local floor as the Bunnies won their first game of Lower Bucks County League. Final score was: Bristol, 60; Fallsington, 16.

The Falls boys could not cope with the resident team wnich started to compile their large score in the first period and added as the game progressed.

In the third session, Fallsington was held scoreless and often went long stretches without a score. The Orange and Black only scored two fouls in the first period, both made by L. Lynch. Bristol held a 30-11 lead at the half-time mark.

"Jimmy" Sottile and Pindar made some nice shots in the rout with Joe Natale being the only Bristol player to be blanked from scoring. Pindar was high man in scoring with 13 points.

Stan Lelinski and Vince Feole were assigned to guard the lanky Bintcliffe of the visitors and they managed to keep him scoreless from the field although he did make one foul shot.

The only fact that dimmed the Bristol victory was its foul shooting. Again the Campionmen failed to score a good average on fouls, sinking in but eight out of their eighteen tries.

MARTIN IS THE STAR

He Rolls In Six Field Goals and One From the Foul Zone

Coach Harold Stackhouse's Bristol junior varsity scored its third straight triumph by whipping the Fallsington junior varsity, 38-19. Coach Stackhouse used 16 players in the Bunnies' victory.

"Kenny" Martin again paced the Bristol victory with six field goals and a foul for 13 points. Vince Hartley was high for the Fallsington team with nine points.

Bristol had the edge from the start and at the half-way mark was in front, 21-8, letting down in the second half.

Eddie Dyer Stepping In to Baseball's Softest Job

By Les Conklin
(I. N. S. Sports Writer)

NEW YORK, Jan. 16 — (INS) — Eddie Dyer, new pilot of the St. Louis Cardinals, is stepping into the softest job that ever awaited the new manager of a big league club.

Billy Southworth's successor will have so many top-notch ball players on his roster that "what to do with them" will be his hardest task. Like Army's football coach, he will be able to start a contest with his regulars and then finish the game with a "second team" that will be almost as good.

The Cards were almost good enough to win the National League pennant in 1945. Just imagine what they will be next season with a galaxy of stars returning from the service to bolster the current array.

In addition, there are such players as Terry Moore, Enos Slaughter, Jimmy Brown, Lou Klein, Harry Walker, Frank Crespi and others. The roster is enough to make rival managers start tearing their hair.

In fact, Dyer himself probably wishes the list were not quite so impressive. As it is, he'll be classified as a colossal flop if he fails to win the pennant with this lineup.

Dyer has demonstrated that he has the "magic touch" in managing Cardinal farm clubs. He piloted Houston to an easy win in the Texas League in 1941. When that circuit suspended operations for the duration, he transferred to Columbus and steered the Redbirds to the little world series championship.

Dyer might have starred on the mound when he was a southpaw with the Cardinals in the early 1920s, but for a shoulder injury which forced him to give up pitching. Although his oil business in Houston has made him financially well off, he could not resist the temptation again to seek fame on the big league scene, this time as a manager.

EVENING GATHERING

Mrs. Ralph Whyno, Cedar and Dorrance streets, entertained at her home on Monday evening. Refreshments were served to: Mrs. Emidio Marcello, Mrs. Frank Russo, Mrs. Frank Crudo, Mrs. Vincent Scordia, Mrs. Mary Scancella, Mrs. Angelo Niccol, Mrs. Carmen Whyno, the Misses Louise Troiani, Mildred and Katherine Crudo.

VET CENTERS

CHICAGO, Dec. . . (INS) — Veterans' information centers have been established in at least one-half of the cities of more than 50,000 population and in approximately one-third of the cities between 25,000 and 50,000, the International City Managers' Association reports on the basis of a survey of centers in cities of more than 25,000 population.

ERIE — (INS) — Five Icelanders have reported to the Erie Aeronautical Institute for training preparatory to expanding the tiny country's two major airlines with scheduled trips to European countries.

CHESTER — (INS) — You can imagine the consternation among church wardens when the wife of the pastor appeared at a vestry meeting and reported her husband had been "locked up" by county authorities. They relaxed when she explained the Rev. William H. Anderson was serving on a jury that had been locked up until a verdict in a case was reached.

JOHNSTOWN—(INS)—Motorists arrested for drunkenness and fined have dropped more than $13,000 into the city treasury during the past five years.
